

Museum Web Page Update
Paul Finnegan
December 30, 2016

As 2016 draws to close we can reflect on the year gone by. In addition to posting material for current events, I have captured some of the major events at the museum during the year and posted material about them on the web site for the long term. Under the About Us pull-down menu there is an entry for the WPRM Photo & Video Gallery. There are ten collections from 2016 to relive the events of the year. Under the News pull-down menu is a collection of entries that each tell a story about something big that happened. If you have material you would added to either of these web pages, please contact me.

The web site has been updated for the 2017 season. The calendars and schedules are all updated. The Crew Training Registration page is waiting for you to sign-up for joining the Operating Department for 2017. The Extra Board has all the known Caboose Train operating dates posted. Members of the Operating Department can mark up for any of the dates in 2017. At this time, the exact dates for Railroad Days are not known, but when the dates are finalized the tools will be updated.

There are lots of areas besides the Operating Department where you can get involved. The Steam Department has scheduled work sessions, the Mechanical Department has lots of ways you can get your hands dirty and don't overlook any of the other opportunities. Make 2017 the year you pitch in to help make our society all it can be.

Some new material has been added to the Historical/Archive Department web page under the Museum pull-down menu. Please visit it to see the progress.

Additional entries continue to be made to the master index for the "Western Pacific HEADLIGHT". Peter Arnold is spearheading this project to create an index of the topics and articles in all the HEADLIGHTS. It is regularly updated and can be found on the Historical/Archive Department web.

I am always looking for feedback, content and new ideas. If you have some, please don't hesitate to contact me at webmaster@wplives.org.
