WPRM Galleries

We have been using galleries on the website since August of 2016 as a convenient place to capture FRRS/WPRM photos and videos. Some galleries are “one time” events and lend themselves well to opening and viewing. Other galleries, e.g. Around the Museum 2019, grow over time as new material is added. In my mind, I had always seen the photos in the gallery being in chronological order. Greg Elems pointed out that for the larger galleries that grow over time, this style makes it difficult for the user to easily find the latest material. In particular, the user using a mobile device would have to scroll through many photos (that they presumably had already seen) to find the new ones. In an effort to improve the user experience, I reversed the order of photos so the latest material is at the top of the page on the galleries that grow over time. I appreciate the suggestions Greg made to help me improve the website.
